Community Sports Hubs

Community sport hubs are a key component of the Active Scotland section of the Scottish Government’s 2014 Commonwealth Games Legacy Plan.

Community sport hubs will work to the following principles:

- To create a more joined up approach to increasing participation.
- To allow individuals and communities to access sport in a sustainable way by developing genuine community leadership and engagement.
- To offer a range of sporting activities and provide ‘sign posting’ for wider sports provision available, inclusive of those from under represented groups.
- To bring all appropriate partners, groups and people together.

Each hub will focus on the needs of the particular local community, in which it is based, offering local clubs and sports groups easier access to sporting facilities, as well as providing community volunteers with an opportunity to lead the development of local sport and physical activity in the area.

Hubs will be based in local facilities such as sport centres, community centres, schools and/or the natural environment. They will also provide information, support and advice on a wide range of sports and physical activities to make it easier for local people to get involved and engage in a more active and healthier lifestyle.
