

Welcome to Lanark Moor Cycle Trail

There are two trails here:

The blue trail is the cycle trail, specifically designed for off road cycle use.

The green trail is recommended for equestrian use.

The trails run through forest plantation and have very natural characteristics, taking advantage of soft slopes and other natural features. Due to the layout and the nature of the trails there are a number of intersections where the new trails cross each other and other woodland trails. Users should take particular care at these crossings which are indicated on the trails with caution signs.

All users have a responsibility for their own safety as well as having consideration for the safety of other users. Please keep animals you are responsible for under control at all times and remove any excrement from the trails. If you are unable to do so at the time please return and do so when able. It is recommended that cyclists follow the blue trail in an anti-clockwise direction for their safety – indicated with blue arrows.

All users of the trails should follow the guidance of the Scottish Outdoor Access Code.

- Take responsibility for your own actions
- Respect the interests of other people
- Care for the environment
